Simran Singh, Esq.

Simran Singh is the founding and managing partner of Singh, Singh & Trauben, LLP, where he concentrates his practice in the areas of music, film, and television law, representing Grammy and Billboard-award winning recording artists and producers, leading independent record and production companies, celebrities, documentarians, filmmakers, screenwriters, global entertainment, media and technology corporations, premier internet advertising networks, global nutritional supplement companies, and high net-worth individuals in connection with a multitude of film, television, music and business dealings.

Mr. Singh served as a business and legal affairs in-house attorney for Universal Music for several years before starting his own legal practice. Because of Mr. Singh's background working for the world's largest music company, he understands not only the finer points of entertainment and business contract terms but also the significance of intellectual property issues at hand. Mr. Singh has negotiated some of the largest record and distribution deals in the music industry and has also personally overseen several multi-million dollar litigation matters for his entertainment law clientele.

Specifically, in the realm of motion pictures, Mr. Singh regularly works on structuring finance, production and distribution agreements as well as talent and executive employment agreements and rights acquisitions and sales agreements for both established and emerging film and media entities. Mr. Singh regularly assists with business affairs for film production, including drafting and negotiating actor agreements, director agreements, producer agreements, life-story rights, the use and exploitation of all aspects of intellectual property (copyright, trademark and trade secrets), merchandising, distribution, licensing, publishing, advertising, marketing, publicity, and interactive media.

Mr. Singh has been mentioned, credited and/or quoted in numerous outlets, including Forbes, The Hollywood Reporter, Billboard and Variety. Additionally, he has been a frequent speaker at music, digital, and entertainment conferences, including, in particular, at entertainment law seminars at his alma-mater the University of Miami School of Law.

Mr. Singh is a member of the California and Florida Bars and received his Juris Doctor degree from the University of Miami, where he was elected to serve as Senator of the Student Bar Association for two terms. Mr. Singh earned his Bachelor of Arts degree with a dual major from the College of William & Mary.
